Whig and Courier.

The Aroostook Railroad.

Speech of Mr. McCrillis, of Bangor,

Delivered in the House of Representatives of Maine, on the discussion of the Aroostook Railroad Bill.

Mr Speaker:—The gentleman from Augusta (Mr Blaine,) has generously said that the large audience have come hither not to hear him but myself. But, sir, in truth it is neither of us, but the subject of the debate—the Aroostook Railroad—which has attracted this unusual crowd around us, and I accept it as an indication of the interest which is felt among the people of Maine in the success of this great work of internal improvement. I feel the responsibility which I assume in undertaking to occupy a portion of the public mind, and especially that of the Representatives of the people, even in the discussion of this important question only for a brief period of time. My object will be not so much to enlist your opinions in favor of or against your support to the particular provisions of this bill, as to secure your earnest attention and thorough investigation into the present position and resources of the Northern and Eastern sections of our State, for I am sensible that when the minds of you all are turned to this subject, it will result in the adoption of some measure suited to the necessities of the case, and one which will exert a great and lasting influence upon the prosperity and welfare of the State.

The magnitude of the proposed measure and the results which its friends claim will flow from its adoption will also, I doubt not, claim from your hands a careful and searching examination.

Our Eastern boundary is coterminous with that of the territory of a foreign power, from the ocean to the extreme northern point in the State. At the time Maine was admitted into the Union, her territorial limits recognized by the general government and claimed by her, extended midway between England's Provinces of the Canadas northwest, and her maritime Provinces east of us.

This portion of our territory was all situated in a single valley, that of the river St. John, and was drained by its waters which flow through New Brunswick to the ocean. Our territory in that valley contained about fourteen thousand square miles, or nearly one half of the entire area of the State. Great Britain also claimed it and it was denominated the disputed territory. As early as 1815 Great Britain attempted to negotiate for the purchase of a portion of it, but failing in this she afterwards endeavored to obtain the right of way over it and failing in that also, she boldly set up title to the whole of it.

The dispute was terminated by the Ashburton treaty of 1842 which divided the territory between the contending parties—Great Britain obtaining the northern, and the United States the southern portion of it. The part which we retained contains about seven thousand square miles, an area equal to the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and now forms the county of Aroostook. Its natural channel and thoroughfare of its commerce and trade is by the St John river. British enterprise, energy and capital have recently [illegible] the facilities of railroad communication. Its territory is separated from the other settled portion of the State by a belt of country inferior in quality of soil, and likely to remain a long time in a wilderness state. The position of Aroostook, and its relations to the other settled portions of our State is analogous to that of the valley of the upper Mississippi to the country before the purchase of Louisiana, or that of the upper St Lawrence and the great lakes before the construction of the Erie canal.

I desire to speak to you today of the duties and responsibilities imposed upon the people of Maine by the isolated position of that great valley, and the great advantages to be derived from connecting it by railroad with the other settled portions of the State.

Thousands and tens of thousands of our people within the past few years have left our own State to seek new homes in distant States and territories, to add to their population and wealth, while our own fertile lands, from causes somewhat within our own control, have remained an unproductive, and uncultivated wilderness. In the entire range of our legislative duties nothing has been regarded, and nothing is really of so much importance, as the adoption of measures to secure the occupation and cultivation of our wild lands. I desire also, to speak to you to day of the necessity of adopting some measure to retain our population at home, and the great value of their labor to this still new and uncultivated State.

While the geographical position of Maine is eminently favorable, its configuration must be regarded in many respects as unfortunate. Our great rivers taking their rise in the interior and flowing to the ocean, have divided our State from its western to its eastern boundary into successive valleys—that of the Saco, the Androscoggin, the Kennebec, the Penobscot, the St Croix and the St John—each valley having its own separate and distinct interests, and each its own considerable towns at the water, where its exchanges are made. Without enumerating all the various disadvantages of such configuration, one fact is obvious, that with our contiguity to Boston, and the facilities of communication with that city by ocean navigation forbid the idea of any great commercial capital within our own borders created by our own trade and commerce unless these natural disadvantages are modified and controlled by artificial communications. I desire to speak to you to day of the vast influence which a trunk railroad line would exert, running through the State from border to border, crossing and thus uniting these valleys—a new river, more safe, more ample and commodious than the natural river, and one which neither the heat nor droughts of summer nor the cold and ice of winter can interrupt or obstruct, bringing these [illegible] bordering to each other—an iron river binding us together socially and commercially and giving unity to the State—strength, power, solidity and compactness.

The maritime Provinces of England, which lie east of us, contain an area nearly equal to both the great States of New York and Pennsylvania, the former about 36 000 square miles, and the latter about 40 000 square miles. They number about 700 000 inhabitants. The [illegible] equal if not superior to our own. Their commerce, trade and intercourse [illegible] under the influence of the railroad to travel with our commercial cities [illegible] as our own. When this road is completed on our frontier, they will be ready to unite with it with three hundred and thirty miles of railroad extending over through their own country. I desire to speak to you to day of the advantage to us of bringing their inland trade and intercommunication into and through our State.

The position of Maine is midway between these Provinces and our commercial [illegible]. They will have railroad communication with this country. At what point on our eastern frontier shall the connection be made with them? We have the power to decide [illegible] of the most important [illegible] where [illegible] is fixed. I admit, in making that decision, that their interest should be consulted as well as our own. The whole question should be settled in a spirit of entire justice and liberality. Happily the interests of both parties in this respect are identical. The interests of New Brunswick and Maine are identical and the route has been clearly marked out by the physical geography of the country.

No candid man will deny that the travel over this road must be large. When it is completed we shall unite the valleys from the shores of the Gulf of St Lawrence, from those of the Bay of Fundy, from Nova Scotia, from Prince Edward's Island and Newfoundland connected together with our own by railroad, bringing them into our own commercial cities. [illegible] in this House [illegible] who will live to see not even hundreds of thousands of inhabitants only, but [illegible] millions in those Provinces. I desire to speak to you of the policy and of the duty of fixing, so far as we are able, a point of connection on our frontier and the route of the road where it will serve the double purpose of a railroad to the Aroostook and a trunk line through the State—where the travel to come from these Provinces shall find a [illegible] part of a road which will settle and accommodate Aroostook and develop the resources of the northern portion of the State, and where, also, the local travel, traffic and business of the great valley of the Upper St John and the Penobscot, shall contribute to make the road a profitable and paying one.

It cannot be denied that the St Andrews railroad from Woodstock to the former place, and the road [illegible] that seeks to carry the trade and travel of the great basin of the St John both American and Provincial, through New Brunswick to the ocean. It is a formidable connection with our railroads. So far as it [illegible] and pours out [illegible] of that valley, its producers or its purchasers [illegible] market of our State. The road contemplated in this bill, will bring the commerce, trade and travel of that valley to us and connect us with that valley and those Provinces, and connect our railroads with theirs. [illegible] the questions which I have stated, I propose in the remainder of my remarks, to consider.

Among the features of this proposition of the bill will be, to bind Aroostook and the entire valley of the Upper St John into firm and perfect connection with the other settled portions of the State—unite it with the valley of the Penobscot and both with the water and other commercial avenues of the State at Bangor—[illegible] our commercial [illegible] Aroostook [illegible] the North Eastern Boundary dispute—introduce a population there to cultivate the soil—and commercially [illegible] our position [illegible] on the Eastern end the trunk line of a railroad to our Eastern frontier, there to unite with the Provincial railroads and bring the inland trade and commerce of those Provinces to our State.

In the discussion of the questions suggested by this road, I ask the House to lay aside every prejudice—every local and sectional feeling and view this bill in its broad and comprehensive bearings upon the future prosperity, greatness and welfare of the State. I believe it to be a question of interest and application to every part of the State, and to every man who labors with his hand or his head within our broad boundaries. But, sir, I do not make this request without understanding, and appreciating how difficult it is for the House to grant it.

The most important and fortunate measures which have been adopted in this country and the [illegible] in complete [illegible] met in their outset with intense and inveterate opposition. The purchase of Louisiana was regarded by a portion of the people with [illegible], and [illegible] believed it would prove fatal to the best interests of the country and even to the stability of the government. At the time the construction of the Erie Canal connecting the valley of the St Lawrence and the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean, was opposed by most of the capitalists and leading men of the State of New York. Refer to the debates of that period and the press of that day and you will find how bitter and unsparing was that opposition. At last they could only tell the people that the country beyond the Canal was of but little or no value, and they called it "Clinton's Ditch," and represented it as a road useful only as the habitation of frogs.

From our present stand point, no doubt all of us think that had we lived and taken a part in public affairs at the time of the acquisition of Louisiana, we must have seen that the mouth of the Mississippi, and the right bank of that river extending North as far as Missouri and West to the Pacific ought not to have been left in the possession of a foreign power.

We all believe that had we lived in New York at the time of the construction of the Erie Canal, we should have clearly seen whether our homes had been on the line of it, or in the Southern portion of the State, that the great valley of the St Lawrence and the Lakes with all of its fertile land and vast resources should not have been left to find its only avenue to the ocean through the dominions of a foreign power. Contemplating the mighty results which have flowed from the adoption of these two measures extending their influence to every section of the country and benefiting every industrial pursuit in the country, and [illegible] any more than the former [illegible], we [illegible] that any one could have been found to have opposed them—and yet, sir, they were opposed, but honestly and zealously, by men at least as wise as ours [illegible]. How can we hope, then, that this bill [illegible] will escape similar opposition?

Your Governors and other people have told you for the last twenty years, that the lands of Aroostook are more fertile than any in New England. One of your Governors after a careful and critical examination, declared that there was not on the Atlantic seaboard so large and fertile a body of unoccupied land in so [illegible] a position. It may be, sir, that the [illegible] after us—those who [illegible] these seats in the future—one quarter of a century hence looking at that great valley occupied by independent freeholders, and hundreds of thousands its population, may [illegible] wonder that we hesitated to build a road, or doubted whether we should unite it with its trade and commerce to our State, or leave it practically to go to a foreign power.

It may be sir, that those who come after us, looking at this great Province [illegible] all the resources [illegible] agricultural [illegible] navigation [illegible] and bound by [illegible] ultimately [illegible] our country [illegible] would also wonder that we [illegible] today could doubt [illegible] this road would be a paying one.

We [illegible] the advantage of those who have preceded us in the knowledge and experience of the success and failures [illegible] upon the wealth, population and prosperity of the country [illegible] this great measure fairly without [illegible] favor, without timidity or rashness [illegible] that the responsibility is [illegible] that the judgment of those who come after us will be as correct as [illegible].

I wish to [illegible] express this [illegible] of [illegible] the opinions which have been [illegible] in regard to [illegible] the [illegible] bill [illegible] platform of the bill simply requires that those [illegible] the construction of the road [illegible]. The bill [illegible] not [illegible] the tangible and [illegible] directly concerned, and [illegible] towards his road and [illegible] in every [illegible] The construction [illegible] opened and [illegible] to [illegible] activity [illegible] those already [illegible] the Lower Provinces [illegible] value to a large amount of capital [illegible] owners of land [illegible] the St John [illegible] The county of Aroostook also will be great [illegible] the [illegible] State [illegible] to increase taxation.

The Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are constructing a railroad connecting the city of St John, the commercial capital of the former with Halifax the capital of the latter. The distance from Halifax to St John is about two hundred and fifty miles. It will soon be completed. It is a government work and the extension is already provided [illegible] from St John to [illegible] our [illegible] boundary, is from [illegible] miles. When this link and our road [illegible] the [illegible] is completed [illegible] European and North American Railroad [illegible] the Provinces [illegible]. It is understood that New Brunswick has [illegible] to [illegible] it is necessary to [illegible] with [illegible].

The [illegible] of St John [illegible] the city of Bangor [illegible] Douglas Valley [illegible] Woodstock [illegible] Fredericton the capital of New Brunswick [illegible].

The route of [illegible] above Bangor, and [illegible] Penobscot to Mattawamkeag [illegible] distance of forty six [illegible] sixty one miles from [illegible] the valley of the [illegible] about twenty five [illegible] forty three [illegible] there to unite with the road [illegible] St John [illegible] road from Bangor and from thence to St John and from thence to Halifax, a distance of five hundred [illegible] from Bangor.

About [illegible] miles this side of the boundary, the [illegible] branch [illegible] from the trunk line to extend [illegible] Houlton [illegible] the [illegible] of Aroostook. This road would run down the valley of a stream called the Meduxnekeag, a tributary of the St John and which flows through the villages of Houlton and Richmond, [illegible] of twenty miles. It is [illegible] that this road [illegible] extended down the valley of this stream to Woodstock and thus completely unite the great valley of the Upper St. John with that of the Penobscot and both with the other railroads of the state at Bangor.

The purpose of this road is to unite with the Province roads to bring their inland trade and intercommunication into our State, and to promote social and commercial intercourse with them.

This branch road will accommodate and settle Aroostook, and bring a portion of the trade and traffic of the entire basin of the Upper St John both American and Provincial into our State. This route is almost in a straight line towards Boston, and the Penobscot river below Bangor, running in the same general direction is but a prolongation of the line of communication with that city. Draw a line from Boston to Woodstock and it will intersect Bangor and very nearly Mattawamkeag and Houlton.

Woodstock is the nearest point of the valley of the St John to Bangor and Portland. The current of trade is irresistibly toward the West—toward the great commercial cities from whence all comes and which all goes.

Before the railroad was constructed to Lewiston, Portland hardly commanded the trade of the valley of the Upper Androscoggin. With the extension of the railroad to the Kennebec, she gained the trade to that point. With the extension of it to the Penobscot, her eastern connections extend ed there, and she now commands a portion of the trade within a few miles of Bangor. Portland is now the winter harbor of the valley of the Penobscot. Her trade will extend with this railroad to the great valley of the St. John, and within twenty years, to the Gulf of the St. Lawrence.

Such, sir, is the force of the current of trade towards the West. The waters of the beautiful river upon whose banks this capital stands, do not more surely flow to the ocean than does trade and commerce flow from the East to the West. I beg my friends from Portland to reflect upon this. How and where has the rapid growth of that beautiful city been obtained? From Canada? No, sir. The Grand Trunk seeks to establish a new avenue of trade. It is obliged to compete with those already existing, running to New York and Boston. The growth of through trade over that road, like that of through travel, must be gradual. Sir, the increased trade and prosperity of Portland has come mainly from the extension of railroads in our own State. The trunk line running through our State, has no such competition as the Grand Trunk has. Our trunk line is but affording additional facilities to aid the natural and only route of travel and trade. Portland can hope to become a great commercial city only from her unrivalled harbor, the extension of manufacturing industry in the State, and by making our State compact and united by railroad communication, and bringing every part of it into near neighborhood to her. I beg to tell my Portland friends in this House, that in looking toward the West, they are looking to their rivals—that behind and beyond them are their friends and supporters, and I ask them occasionally to turn around and look to their own and our interests. If my friends are wise, they will seek to extend their Eastern connections and their Eastern trade.

STATE OF MAINE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
AUGUSTA, April 6, 1859.

An adjourned session of the Executive Council will be held at the Council Chamber in Augusta on TUESDAY, the third day of May next.

Attest: NOAH SMITH, JR.
Secretary of State
apr9

We commence to-day the publication of Mr McCrillis's speech on the Aroostook Railroad. The Kennebec Journal, from which we copy, remarks that the argument on the constitutionality of granting the State credit is omitted, as the amendments to the bill disposed of that feature. That portion of the argument in favor of granting the credit of the State, has no application to the bill as finally amended and enacted. The speech will be found highly interesting and conclusive, and we ask for it the earnest attention of the whole people of the State.

THE CELEBRATION OF THOMAS JEFFERSON'S BIRTHDAY, by the Republicans of Boston, on Wednesday last, was an occasion of much interest. Speeches expressive of the respect and admiration felt for the author of the glorious Ordinance of 1787, and the great exponent of the principles laid down in the immortal Declaration of Independence, were made by Ex-Governor Boutwell, Hon. John P. Hale, Hon. Thomas Davis, Senator Wilson, Hon. I. S. C. Knowlton, John A. Andrew, Esq., and other prominent Republicans—and letters were read from Senator Seward, Governor Banks, William Cullen Bryant, Hon. Abram Lincoln and others. The Genius of Liberty presided on the occasion.

ANOTHER "REPUBLICAN "UNDER." S. M. Booth, editor and proprietor of the Free Democrat, and one of the ablest and most influential leaders of the Republican party in Wisconsin, has been arrested charged with seducing Caroline N. Cook.—Portland Argus.

Suppose we should announce the Sickles case as follows:—"Two more Democrats Done For!"—"A Democratic District Attorney Killed by a Democratic Member of Congress for Base Seduction!—both being bosom friends of the President and High Leaders of the Party!"

How would that read?

A SAD CASE.—The New York Post has the following:

"Last night, between ten and eleven o'clock, as a gentleman was returning home from visiting a friend in 21st street, he observed a young lady, dressed in mourning and of respectable appearance, leaning on the railing of the Union Club House, on the corner of Twenty-first street and Fifth avenue, apparently ill. Upon questioning her, she confessed that she had taken laudanum for the purpose of self-destruction, having been deserted by her husband and lost her young child, and that she had now no object in life. She appeared very much distressed in mind and body, and produced the vial—a two ounce vial—which she had emptied of its contents.

She stated that owing to the interference of her husband's friends, he had deserted her last Wednesday, March 30, since which time she had eaten no food, and sought relief from her misery only in death. She was immediately hurried to a druggist's store, and a powerful emetic administered, which relieved the stomach of a quantity of fluid, but not one particle of food!

The physician in attendance stated that she had not eaten certainly in four days. One of the gentlemen present went for her husband, a fast youth of the fancy order, who came up with an air of nonchalance, and asked her coolly what was the matter. He also stated that her sister had told him that day that his wife had eaten nothing since he left her. After the danger from the poison was passed, the two were left together. Her only desire in living is to possess the affection of her husband, who is evidently unworthy of her love, as he himself admitted she had done nothing to forfeit it. At his earnest request, and for the sake of his wife, their names are withheld from publication, but should he continue his unfeeling course he will be exposed to the scorn he so richly deserves.—N. Y. Post.

FAST GIRLS WITH A SLOW TEAM.—Two females passed through Providence, Ill., a few days since, on their way to Pike's Peak, with an ox-team.

Items—Editorial and Selected.

A lady has lately made a claim on a transit company out west for $43,000 for services rendered for lobbying their charter through Congress, which was refused. She exhibited a private contract between the directors of the company and the contractors, showing that the latter agreed to pay the former a monstrous percentage of the amount received from the company, and the honest men agreed to pay her $10,000 as hush money.

The booksellers' spring trade sales in New York recently concluded, are said to have been the most successful of any yet held, and to indicate a healthful revival in business.

A New York letter relates that Mr. William B. Astor, who is worth sixty millions of dollars, recently requested the Rev. Dr. Chapin's society not to anticipate the payment of a debt of $90,000 due him, as they desired to do, but to continue paying only the interest as it became due. He said he had more money than he could take care of.

A Spanish proverb says that the Jews ruin themselves at their passovers, the Moors at their marriages, and the Christians at their lawsuits.

☞ The Post says that Bogle's wigs are so natural that the wearers are obliged to have their hair cut once a month.

Mr. Conklin's little daughter, while running up the steps of her house, in Warwick, N. Y., with a sugar bowl, stumbled, spilled the sugar, broke the bowl, and with one of its pieces cut her jugular and bled to death in a few moments!—Post.

CHLOROFORM ADMINISTERED TO HORSES.—A writer in the Boston Medical Journal says he has given to horses sufficient chloroform to control all motion, and in one case operated for a cataract on both eyes, without the slightest twitching of a muscle, both eyes being fixed and immoveable. Another horse was kept under the influence of chloroform nearly two hours, while a surgeon performed a prolonged operation.

DEATH FROM CHLOROFORM.—On Sunday a young woman in New York purchased and inhaled two shillings worth of chloroform to allay a severe pain in her teeth. She was soon after found dead, having apparently died while insensible.

HYDROPHOBIA.—On Sunday, the 6th of March, a lad in Blackstone named Thomas Quinn, aged fifteen, was bitten by a dog supposed to be rabid. The wounds were cauterized, and no inconvenience was experienced from them till Wednesday of last week, when they became painful, and the boy still grew worse till Monday, when he died. The case assumed all the characteristics of hydrophobia.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN PHILADELPHIA.—According to a report just made there are 314 schools in Philadelphia. The number of pupils is 59,400, of whom 30,312 are males, and 29 088 females. There are 1,013 teachers, 24 controllers, and 315 directors. There are about 3000 candidates for admission every year, for whom no seats can be provided in the schools. The cost of the whole School System of Philadelphia is $475,781.

LECTURES ON METAPHYSICS, by Sir William Hamilton. Edited by Rev H. L. Mansel of Oxford, and John Veitch of Edinburgh.—Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1859.

This volume contains the author's lectures as Professor of Logic and Metaphysics in the University of Edinburgh, delivered during the twenty years of his incumbency from 1836 to 1856. His amazing learning, which had apparently searched every philosophical treatise in every European tongue, from the time of Plato till his own time, and recovered for his own use every valuable thought dropped even by the obscurest writers; his vigorous intellect which digested this boundless learning into living thought, his keen discernment, exhaustive research, and cautious judgment which made him the master of critics, his strong good sense which restrained him from flighty speculations and led him to found his system solidly on the universal sentiment or common sense of mankind, his improvements in the classification of the mental faculties and his original contributions to the progress of thought mark him as, without a rival, the greatest philosophical thinker of the age. The volumes of his writings heretofore published have been collections of articles scattered in Reviews and elsewhere, which failed to give a complete view of his system. This want is for the first time supplied in the volume before us, as far at least as he left behind him materials for a complete and systematic presentation of his philosophy. These lectures were prepared for comparatively young scholars in the second year of their university course, and consequently are less severe in style than some of his works, and better fitted to introduce beginners to an acquaintance with his system. Every one who would be acquainted with the advancement of the science of the mind, will need to read this work. This volume contains the complete course on mental science. Another volume is promised, containing his course of lectures on Logic.

The work is for sale by E. F. Duren.

THE LADIES AMERICAN MAGAZINE, for May, contains some very beautiful engravings, including a splendid colored fashion plate. In the department of Fashions, a large and elegant variety of new styles of embroideries, &c., are illustrated by fine engravings. The tales and sketches of this number are very interesting. This is the cheapest Magazine in the country,—being but $2 per annum for single copies—four copies for $6.

A HALF PINT OF CHESTNUTS.—Some poor children in Shutesbury, in this county, last fall gave Rev. Asa Bullard half a pint of chestnuts for the Massachusetts Sabbath School Society. Mr. Bullard sold them at auction at a festival in Winchester, for $5. They were returned to him, and he has continued to sell them over till they have realized $33,60, and a part of them are still on hand for sale. The history of the chestnuts must be highly satisfactory to the children who gave them because they had no money.—Greenfield Gazette.

AN OTTER, weighing 21 pounds was killed on the railroad bridge at Augusta, on Tuesday last, by a Mr. Hume.

FRUIT IN AROOSTOOK.—Who says fruit cannot grow in Aroostook? We are informed that Mr Corliss of Sayrna, raised the past season from an orchard of 150 trees which averaged about twelve years old, seventy-five bushels of apples.—Aroostook Pioneer.

LOCAL AND MAINE NEWS.

OLD AND NEW STYLE TYPE
FOR CARD PRINTING!

We have received several New Specimens of Card Type, which we wish to exhibit to those desirous of having Cards Printed in the most Fashionable and Latest Style.

The Bangor Loan Bill, which passed the Legislature, allows the city to loan its credit in aid of a Railroad from Milford to Mattawamkeag Point, in the sum of $10,000 a mile, yet not to exceed in gross $600,000; provided said bill be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the legal voters of Bangor, and a two-thirds vote of the City Council of Bangor. The submission to be made at any time within two years.

In the Police Court, on Thursday, Mary Casey and Bridgett O'Connell each entered a complaint of personal assault at the hands of the other. Each party exhibited handsfuls of hair torn out in the scrimmage—but the Judge thought that Mrs. Casey rather had the worst of it, and therefore fined her but $2 with costs $3 47, while Mrs. O'Connell was mulcted in a fine of $5 with $4,38 costs. Both parties appealed.

Yesterday, (Friday) Horace J. Dexter, was arraigned on a charge of obtaining money on false pretences, by selling (in October 1858) a chest of tools of the value of $61 to Mr. Benjamin Ball of this city, then of Corinth,—the tools not belonging to said Dexter, but being in his possession merely. Mr. Ball, it appears, after paying Dexter for the tools, was called upon to pay for them again, by Mr. Nathaniel R. Burleigh of Bangor, and did so pay to the amount of about $66. Dexter was arrested in Aroostook county, and brought here for examination. E. W. Flagg and Mr. Lovejoy of Corinth, appeared for the prosecution, and Waterhouse and H. P. Haynes for defence.—The tools were delivered to Dexter, by Mr. Burleigh, to be paid for in instalments, and to remain Burleigh's property till paid for.

The defence was that Dexter intended to pay Burleigh for the tools, and thus make the title good in Mr. Ball, and tried to make an arrangement to that effect. His honor considered, however, that the case was sufficiently made out to warrant him in holding the defendant for trial. He was accordingly required to find bail in the sum of $300 for appearance for trial in August next.

Dexter settled at Limestone plantation, in Aroostook, last fall, and has a good farm started there.

The police arrested a couple of boys yesterday for mischievously throwing stones, for which they had a night's lodging in the watch-house.

A LIBERAL ARRANGEMENT FOR THE PUBLIC BENEFIT. We understand that arrangements have been made by Crane & Co.'s Express for telegraphing at their own expense, every arrival of the steamers M. Sanford and Daniel Webster, either at Rockland or Belfast, when coming this way—and to have the information posted on a bulletin board in front of the Express Office, for the public benefit. This will be a convenient and valuable arrangement for all citizens who may have from time to time an interest in the time of arrival of the boats.

☞ A daguerreotype picture of Potter, the murderer, and a very good one, has been taken by Mr. Wm. H. Dole, successor to Burnham, in Strickland's Block, Kenduskeag Bridge.

☞ A splendid salmon, weighing 26½ pounds, caught by R. R. Park, at Eddington, was to be seen yesterday at Low's Market. It will be sent to New York for the epicures of the St. Nicholas.

General Cunningham of the New England House, Belfast, caused a fellow who advertised himself to speak against Spiritualism, into the Penobscot Bay near Searsport. The fellow forgot to pay his board bill, and hence came near being made food for the fishes. After the fellow was well ducked, the General secured about seventy-five cents in cash, and an uncertain sum in dirty linen.

REMOVAL. By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Messrs. Atwood & Nickerson have removed from their old store to No. 11 Exchange street, a few doors above. Their present store has been remodelled and refitted inside, making it much more convenient both for occupants and customers.

PRESENTATION. The Dexter Gem says that Mr. Wm. G. Cutler, the Superintendent of the Mills in that village, being about to resign that position, was a few days since made the recipient of a beautiful Silver Pitcher, a present from the operatives under his supervision.

PIANO SALES-ROOM. There are some very beautiful and fine toned pianos on exhibition and for sale at No. 19 Main Street, as will be seen by advertisement. They are of a celebrated New York make—that of Cummings & Canfield, who took the first premium on pianos at the great World's Fair in New York. The agent, Mr. Jennys offers the instruments at $50 less than the usual prices in New York.

ARREST FOR RUNNING A VESSEL OUT OF THE SHERIFF'S HANDS. The police of New York, on Tuesday arrested Capt. Gray and Mr. Orcutt, captain and mate of the brig Gilmore Meredith, on a warrant charging them with taking the brig from Brooksville, in this State, while she was in charge of the Sheriff of Hancock county, and proceeding with her to New York. At the time the brig was taken there was a keeper on board of her, but he was got rid of by a story of sudden illness in his family. He was gone but a short time, and when he returned found the vessel missing. The parties arrested were committed to await a requisition from the Governor of this State.

ACQUITTAL OF CAPT. ESTABROOK. Captain Hezekiah D. Estabrook of Sedgwick, who has been on trial in the Circuit Court of the U. S. in Boston for some days, on a charge of murdering Charles Smith, mate of the schooner Cameo, was acquitted by the jury on Wednesday, on the ground that he was insane at the time he committed the deed. After the verdict of "not guilty" was rendered, at the suggestion of his counsel, the prisoner was remanded in order to allow investigation to be had of his present mental condition.

Deft. claiming that the money was a gift, and that the money was sent to her, for the purpose of enabling herself and family to come to her daughter, Pliff's wife in Bangor.

Paisted and Simpson. Knowles and Mace.

Henry Gooding vs C. D. Gilmore. Against dft. for certain goods attached by him as Sheriff, at the suit of Jones, Pratt & Christie of Boston. Pliff. claims under a mortgage.—Amount in controversy about $500.

A PRACTICAL MAN. Happening into our composing room on Monday afternoon, we found the defeated candidate for Mayor, assisting in "setting up" the Inaugural of his successful rival, and criticising it as he went along.—Portland Argus.

RE-MATCHED. A couple who were divorced in Oxford County, at the March term of Court, were married again on the 6th of this month. What makes the affair quite singular is the fact that the divorce was decreed for adultery on the part of the wife.

☞ Messrs. Sawtelle & Dole, 40 West Market Square, advertise a new and complete stock of Carriage Trimmings, Saddlery, Hardware, &c.,—as well as Wheels, Spokes, Hubs, &c.

ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND SUICIDE.—We learn from Mr Mellen, mail agent, that yesterday morning in Waterville, a colored man attempted to take the life of his wife by discharging a gun at her. The ball struck her in the head and glanced off. Although the wound was severe it was not thought to be fatal. After discharging his piece the man went into a barn and cut his throat in a shocking manner. The opinion was expressed that he could not survive. The report was that jealousy instigated the act.—Argus.

DEATH FROM DELIRIUM TREMENS.—Thomas Kelley, an Irishman, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, in a stable on Merrill's wharf, while laboring under delirium tremens. He was about 35 years of age.

DEMOCRATIC STATE RIGHTS CONVENTION AT HARRISBURG. DENUNCIATION OF THE PRESIDENT. Harrisburg, Pa., April 13. The Democratic State Rights Convention met this morning. Hon John Hickman made a speech, in which he said, "Those who talk of conciliation and compromise between us and the self-constituted oracles of the Democratic party can have but a feeble appreciation of the real condition of things. Let truth be made prominent, that there is eternal antagonism between freedom and slavery. The struggle between them is but just begun, and is going on in our midst.

Mr. Buchanan has demanded the absorption of the powers of Congress in those of the executive, to carry out his treachery. He has assailed the representatives of the people—bribed the venal, rewarded the aspiring, alarmed the timid, deceived the honest.

We charge further upon the administration of Mr Buchanan one main cause by which we have reached the point of national insolvency—a reckless prodigality in the expenditure of the public money, and the prevailing vice in the departments of the government."

He referred to the Van Buren administration, when the expenditures of the government were thirty-seven millions. This he pronounced very extravagant, but nothing to compare with the present time, when the expenses are increased to one hundred millions.

He then alluded to the Navy Yards, all crowded with supernumeraries, while the expenses of the Post Office Department are greatly augmented. These proceedings, which he characterized as outrageous, are endorsed as genuine by a convention purporting to represent the Democratic party of the State.—He then declared that Mr Buchanan and his cohorts were incompetent.

LINES,

BY R. RICHARD CLAY, M. D.

On the Death of a Young Lady, who died of Consumption.

And here she lies; so young, so good, so fair;
Here, where no breeze of Heaven blows welcoming air;
She, whose last look was turned in fondest love
Toward those who prayed for her forever above;
I marked her as the season, day by day,
From her young life the heart's blood stole away;
I saw, now, daily on her tender cheek,
Stole the sad hectic that I dared not speak;
I heard, how slowly with a [illegible] decay,
Her [illegible] from sweetness sank to ebb away;
I marked how in each [illegible] word [illegible]
Told me, at last consumption claimed its own.

Ah! saddest thought, had [illegible] come,
And with her heart's own friends made here a home,
She might have stood [illegible] her friends [illegible]
With all the glory of her loveliness;
She, whose [illegible] lips [illegible] the one she loved,
Might not from earthly scenes [illegible] removed;
Her hand might press, her dying heart might warm
To [illegible] a lover with the living charm

It was not so; the fate [illegible] flung
A shaft, the deadliest [illegible] bow e'er sprung;
I marked her when the fearful poison lay
Deep in her pulses, and [illegible] quick as they;
In vain the care of friends, the gathering gloom
But threw a deeper shade about her tomb,
And all we felt we vainly here can tell,
When, at her side, we [illegible] her last farewell.

PIANO FORTES!

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Bangor and vicinity, that he has just arrived from NEW YORK, and has taken

Store No 19 Main Street,

Where he has on exhibition and for sale, for a few days only, a few of those

ELEGANT

Rosewood Piano Fortes!

Manufactured by the celebrated makers

Messrs. Cummings & Canfield,

OF NEW YORK CITY

These Pianos are full Seven Octave elegantly finished in Rosewood with beautiful Pearl Keys which are unlike the Ivory as they never change their color and at the same time are by far more durable The first octave in the Bass of these Pianos is composed of a set of wrapped silver wires, running parallel with the side of the Piano the whole crossing the Soprano immediately in the centre of the sounding board Thus with the increased length of both Bass and Treble strings, a length of scale equal to the grand or long Piano is afforded and a richness fullness and roundness of tone hitherto unknown on any square Piano is produced

There is still another point in their arrangement —the length of scale being equal to the Grand Piano and upon a principle that not as a contra balance to the diagonal strain of the other strings a very desirable object is effected in strengthening the frame and bracing the whole action All the interior arrangement to sustain such a complete relation to each other that it necessarily insures the greatest amount of musical harmony producing a superb volume and rotundity of tone and the most perceptible elasticity of touch

Messrs CUMMINGS & CANFIELD received the

First Premium

At the Great World's Fair in New York for producing the finest toned Piano over all other makers and have received the first premium at all the principal Fairs through the country

These Pianos will be offered Fifty Dollars less than their fixed prices in New York and every Piano fully warranted for three years

Pure Maple Sugar.

I TAKE pleasure in informing my old customers and others that my Spring supply of Maple Sugar from the interior of Vermont has just arrived fresh from the sugar trees and can be had at my house on French street and at the Mutual Store in Norombega Market For the information of those unacquainted with this Sugar I will say that it is whole Maple in its purest form, made by the farmers of the Green Mountain State and if it is not equal to the sugar that is sometimes produced in this State from pine trees and molasses hogsheads they are not to blame as they have no such facilities there for making it Syrup made of this Sugar will at least 8½ lbs to the gallon is also to be had at the store where the Sugar is kept. Price $1 25 per gallon

Sugar, 14 Cents per Pound.

The Syrup makes a superior sauce for all kinds of Pudding Buckwheat Cakes &c It can be made in small quantities in a few minutes by putting a little water with it and heating it until it melts It is warranted to give entire satisfaction to all who may use it

American & Foreign Patents

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U S Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837

76 State St, opposite Kilby St.,

BOSTON

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States also in Great Britain France and other foreign countries Caveats Specifications Bonds Assignments and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms and with despatch Researches made into American or Foreign works to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not only the largest in New England but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY he would add that he has abundant reason to believe and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS

I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse CHAS MASON Commissioner of Patents

I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office EDMUND BURKE Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr R H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted and that is now pending Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges JOHN TAGGART

From Sept 17th 1857 to June 17th 1858, the subscriber in course of his large practice made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents R H EDDY

Vegetable Pain Killer!

REV J ALLEN writing from Tavoy Burmah, says:—Within the past four years I have used and disposed of above five hundred bottles I am now out I hoped to receive a fresh supply (through the Mission Rooms) as soon as you can say two hundred bottles I dare not be without it myself and there are endless calls for it, both by Karens and Burmans I always take it with me into the jungles and have frequent occasions to use it both on myself and others—One night while sleeping in an open Zayat I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot On examination I found I had been bitten by a Centipede I immediately applied the Pain Killer and found instant relief In less than an hour I was again asleep.

Rev H L Van Meter of Bassein, India, writes—Here let me assure you that we prize your Pain Killer very highly For the first two or three years of our residence in India we were ignorant of its valuable properties and did not use it but now would hardly feel safe without it for a single day Only a few nights since Mrs Van Meter was stung by a scorpion, and intense pain was instantaneous throughout the arm and so numbness of the fingers followed By the continued application of the Pain Killer for an hour or more and at intervals during the night, the alarming symptoms were subdued, and in the morning only a slight soreness was felt in the finger I have it in a [illegible] case of Fever and Ague according to directions and it acted like a charm breaking it up at once The Karens have great confidence in it

Mr W I Carpenter writes from Calcutta—Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer is a very valuable medicine, and most people here that have used it entertain a high opinion of its worth

CATHERINE—by author of "Agnes and the Little Key," rec'd by E F DUREN.

The Honey Blade Grass.

THE results which have been attained, by experiments in the cultivation of this newly imported species of product, have awakened an interest among the farming classes, in many sections, never before equalled in the entire history of our agricultural industry Facts, in regard to its valuable properties, which at first seemed almost incredible have now been established beyond the possibility of a doubt, and it is believed by those best capable of judging of its merits, that its general introduction will add millions of dollars to our agricultural wealth I have not the space here to enter into details, but will present briefly some of its advantages

First—It will produce double the weight to the acre in any soil of any other kind of grass—From four to six tons per acre is not an uncommon yield and I am in possession of sworn statements by disinterested and reliable persons of a yield of over eight tons of good dry hay from a single acre in soil where it was not possible to get more than one half the amount from any of the common grasses

Second—The same weight possesses more nutriment and consequently will sell for a larger price in the market thus insuring the farmer more than double the return from his grounds that he could obtain from any other forage plant The hay possesses one third more nutriment than timothy and has sold for $15 per ton, where the price of timothy was but $10 or $12

Third—Both hay and seed can be produced from the same crop the hay being equally valuable as other hay after the seed is taken from it, while the seed is as valuable as the best of other grain as a feed for horses cattle, pigs chickens, &c, and it is proved to be superior to linseed for the manufacture of oil and must always find a ready sale, at a fair price for his purpose

Fourth—It matures in about two months time and can be sown on grounds where other crops have failed either by drouth or other causes and, at the same time will yield a large return

Fifth—In northern climates where clover and other grasses are killed out by hard winters this will yield a large crop and in those sections of the South where other grasses will not thrive at all, it will grow very prolific

Sixth—It will stand all kinds of weather and, whether the season be wet or dry the farmer may always rely upon his Honey Blade as a sure crop,

These and other advantages are proved by facts which are endorsed by some of the first agriculturalists of the Union and cannot fail to carry conviction to every intelligent reader

Having been engaged during the past year in the purchase and importation of the pure Honey Blade Seed I have determined to offer it for sale on such terms as will make it an object for every farmer and planter to interest himself during the coming season in its cultivation It is put up in uniform bags of about sixteen pounds each the amount being sufficient to seed one acre and the price is $4 per bag delivered in New York or St Louis

Single bags or lots can be sent to any part of the country by freight or by express and will be put up delivered for transportation and the proper arrangements made free of charge

Each bag is stamped with the Hungarian coat of arms and the following lettering "Honey Blade Hungarian Grass Seed" It will be sold by agents in various sections but parties should be careful of whom they purchase and secure the true genuine seed they are especially cautioned not to purchase the common Hungarian Grass Seed as it is very far inferior to the HONEY BLADE

An interesting pamphlet containing all of the facts, and full particulars, will be furnished free of charge by me or any of my agents upon application I will state as an indication of the intense interest which the subject is exciting, that nearly a quarter of a million of copies of this pamphlet have already been applied for

Parties desiring to secure seed should order at once as the indications are that the limited amount imported will be exhausted long before the season for sowing has passed Those who secure seed this year may realize a rich return by producing seed to supply the demand of farmers and planters for another year

Orders should be sent directly to me unless in the vicinity of New York where they will be filled by J M. FARISON & Co 400 Broadway, New York General Agents

Agricultural Houses General Merchants and any other parties properly situated, are invited to become agents for the sale of the Honey Blade Seed Authority full particulars, and from 60 to 100 pamphlets for distribution, will be furnished either by me or the New York Agency, on receipt of 25 cents to prepay the package

I am authorized to name the following well known gentlemen as references Hon J R Barrett President of the St Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, Vice President of the National Agricultural Society, and Member of Congress elect from St Louis, Gen T Tillman, Oxford Mi President of the National Agricultural Society John J Anderson, Banker St Louis John Hogan Jr Broker, St Louis and Ex-Mayor Washington King St Louis.
